F. C. SAMMONS
127 WOODLAND DRIVE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA.
March 25, 1952

Mr. F. B. Lambert,
Barboursville,
W. Va.

Dear Mr. Lambert:

Persuant to your call this morning for genealogical information in regard to my kinship with the Hensley family of Cabell County and inter-related families--I submit as follows:

My Grandmother, Lucinda Hensley Sammons, was born in 1830, near Barboursville but her father moved his family to southern Illinois where my grandmother (may have been born) lived until she was eleven years old, at which time her father returned his family to Guyandotte and Barboursville, Virginia via steam boat.

Grandmother became acquainted with Roland Salmons, my Grandfather, through his friend and her brother, Will Hensley, and they were married in 1854. They first lived on the Virginia side of Tug River, fourteen miles above Louisa, Ky, which was opposite to her husband's family home on the Kentucky side of Tug River.

My father was born at this location, which is about two miles west of what is now Webb, W. Va, on August 24, 1855. Webb W. Va. was probably named for the family of my father's maternal grandmother.

My Great Uncle, Will Hensley, and my grandmother had permitted their enthusiasm of the South to influence my grandfather to join the Confederate Cause, although his family of five brothers joined the Union Cause. This fact probably is the cause of our branch of the family to spell our name with an "m" rather than an "l".

This fact also caused my grandmother to move near the Union Fort at Louisa, Ky. in 1864, when she believed her husband to be dead and she urgently needed the protection of her (formerly hated) brothers-in-laws. So much for the history of peace and war and the making of families and political parties.

Lucinda Hensley Sammons was the mother of four sons and two daughters and she lived at Louisa, Ky. from 1864 until her death July 9, 1915.

Grandmothers children were Henry Clay, Nancy (Nanny), G. C. (or Clate), Jefferson (Jeff), Olga, and William.

Grandmother had eighteen (18) grand children as follows:
My father, Henry Clay, had nine children--six boys and three girls eight of whom are living. Aunt Nanny died early in life, leaving two little girls, both of whom are living. Uncle Clate and Jeff died without issue. Uncle Bill (W.M.) had three boys and two girls, all living. Olga Sammons Chapman had one girl and one boy, both living.

All of my grandmother's children are now dead, and since I am preparing copies of this paper for members of my family, who will be interested, I submit the following:

Grandfather, Roland Sammons--	born 1828	died June 9, 1892.
My father, H. C. Sammons--	born August 24, 1855--	died Mar. 31, 1927
Aunt Nanny,		died June 1883.
Uncle (Clate) G.C.		died Oct. 20, 1889
Uncle Jeff		died Oct. 2, 1890
Uncle Bill	born April 1, 1866	died Oct. 23, 1940
Aunt Olga		died

I was twenty years of age when my grandmother Hensley Sammons died and I had lived in Louisa up to that time. Her stories of personal knowledge of ~~Indians~~ and Mormons going west and her war experiences may have colored her view point of that sad affair, but she found time to knit mittens and stockings for many grand children and no story that she told us lack in interest. My father, named for her hero, Henry Clay, never lost patience with her logic on how the war could have been avoided and the Union could have been saved but her grandson has lost faith in professional compromisers with those who seek to destroy us.

You probably already know of her family, who remained in Cabell County, better than I but I will gladly furnish any other information I may have upon request.

Since you suggested and invited me to write at length upon my family (the Sam(l)mons) as it came in contact with the Hensley's, I wish to state briefly what I know and ask you (and others) for information.

My Grandfather, Roland Sammons, whose father was also Roland Sammons, was born in Floyd County, Ky. near the mouth of Beaver Creek--or else moved there with his father at an early age, from Albemarle County, Virginia. This Great-Great-Great Grandfather of Albemarle County, Virginia was also named Roland Sammons and is said to have come to Virginia from a village called Sammonsville, N. Y. and were said to have been immigrants from Wales.

My father said his great grand parents included the names of Osborn and Webb and my Aunt Olga, who was interested in many such matters boasted of both ~~Indian~~ Indian and Jewish blood in our family.

As a result of her influence I take a secret pride in the fact that "Salmon" was the Biblical father of "Boaz" whom "Ruths" mother-in-law, "Naomi", selected for the husband of the fabulous "Ruth" and also instructed the glamorous but modest "Ruth" how to catch ~~this~~ early son of "Salmon" (Boaz.)

Enough of this, but thanks for your inquiry and interest.

Yours truly,

F. C. Sammons.

Samuel Hensley v. 1790 18
m. Parthena Dunlap.

They are buried in a private graveyard, at the mouth of Booten's Creek, ^{no stones,} on the upper side, and on a hill ridge, that extends through the bottom. Mrs. Seaton said she had seen Parthena Hensley many times. She was baptized, in Heath's Creek, at Bloomingdale Church, by Rev. John Calvin Reece, when she was about 85 years old. The Hensleys came from Illinois when Mrs. Seaton's mother was 12 years old.
